Percentage of shareholder decision-making rights

(1) A person's voting interest in a company equals the percentage of the total shareholder decision-making rights for the company carried by shares or options held by the person.

When decision-making rights vary

(2) Despite subsection (1), if the percentage of shareholder decision-making rights for a company carried by shares or options held by any person differs as between the types of decision-making listed in the definition of shareholder decision-making right, the person's voting interest in the company equals the average of those differing percentages.

Voting interest attributed to shareholders

(2) Each person (the shareholder) who has a voting interest in the shareholder company is treated as having (to be added to any other percentage voting interest in the issuing company which the shareholder has) their portion of the shareholder company's voting interest in the issuing company and the shareholder company is treated as not having that portion.

Calculation of shareholder's portion

(3) The shareholder's portion of the voting interest is calculated by multiplying the shareholder company's voting interest in the issuing company by the shareholder's voting interest in the shareholder company.

When subsection (5) applies

(4) Subsection (5) applies if a company (the shareholder company) has or is treated as having, whether under subsection (5) or otherwise, a market value interest in another company (the issuing company).

Attributing market value interest to shareholders

(5) Each person (the shareholder) who has a market value interest in the shareholder company is treated as having their portion of the shareholder company's market value interest in the issuing company and the shareholder company is treated as not having that portion. The shareholder's portion is added to any other percentage market value interest in the issuing company which the shareholder has at that time.

Calculation of shareholder's portion

(6) The shareholder's portion of the market value interest is calculated by multiplying the shareholder company's market value interest in the issuing company by the shareholder's market value interest in the shareholder company.

When subsection (8) applies

(7) Subsection (8) applies if,—

(a) in the case of a company (the first company), no direct market value circumstance exists; but

(b) it is necessary to determine the direct market value interest of a person in the first company in order to apply subsection (5) in relation to an issuing company, whether that issuing company is the first company or any other company, because a direct market value circumstance exists for some other relevant company.

YC 18B Corporate reorganisations not affecting economic ownership

When subsection (3) applies

(1) Subsection (3) applies if a company (the initial parent) enters into an arrangement described in subsection (2).

Description of arrangement

(2) The description of the arrangement for the purposes of subsection (1) is as follows:

(a) the initial parent is a limited attribution company that is treated under section YC 11(3) and (4) as holding ownership interests (the included ownership interests) that are not excluded preference shares in another company before the arrangement is entered into; and

(b) the ownership of the initial parent is reorganised so that another company (the new parent) is a limited attribution company that is treated under section YC 11(3) and (4) as holding included ownership interests in the initial parent after the arrangement is implemented; and

(c) the percentage included ownership interests (the final percentage) that a person receives in the new parent is the same as their percentage included ownership interests (the initial percentage) in the initial parent that they cease to hold as a result of the arrangement. For the purposes of this paragraph, a difference between the initial and final percentages is ignored if the difference is caused by a transfer or non-transfer of included ownership interests that—

(i) facilitates the arrangement, and the relevant included ownership interests have a market value that is merely nominal relative to the value of the included ownership interests in the new parent:

(ii) is the direct result of impossibility or impracticability caused by securities law requirements; and

(d) a person holding included ownership interests in the initial parent before the arrangement is entered into does not receive a dividend, gift, or other direct benefit as a result of the arrangement. For the purposes of this paragraph,—

(i) included ownership interests in the initial parent for which paragraph (c)(ii) applies are excluded from a person's holding of included ownership interests:

(ii) included ownership interests in the new parent are excluded from being a dividend, gift, or other direct benefit.

Loss balance and credit account continuity

(3) For the purposes of the tests of ownership and control in Part I and subparts LP, OA, OB, OC, and OP (which relate to loss balances, tax credits, and memorandum accounts), starting from when the initial parent is first treated under section YC 11(3) and (4) as holding the included ownership interests in another company, the new parent is treated as—

(a) existing and having the shareholders it has immediately after the arrangement's implementation:

(b) holding the included ownership interests that the initial parent is treated under section YC 11(3) and (4) as holding:

(c) holding all included ownership interests in the initial parent.

Effect of subsection (3)

(4) Subsection (3) does not prevent a change in shareholders, the holdings of included ownership interests, or other circumstances, after the implementation of the arrangement from having an effect on the application of the continuity provisions and the provisions described in subsection (3) after the implementation of the arrangement.

Interpretation of schedule 23

(4) Schedule 23 is treated as applying consistently with the guidance relevant to the schedule that is provided by the Commentary on Article 5 of the Model Tax Convention on Income and on Capital, in Model Tax Convention on Income and on Capital published by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, as amended at the beginning of the income year in which the enterprise makes the supply.

YD 5 Apportionment of income derived partly in New Zealand

When this section applies

(1) This section applies when—

(a) a person carries on business partly in New Zealand and partly outside New Zealand; or

(b) a contract is made in New Zealand and is performed, in whole or in part, by a person outside New Zealand; or

(c) a contract is made outside New Zealand and is performed, in whole or in part, by a person in New Zealand; or

(d) interest or a redemption payment is derived from money lent outside New Zealand to a New Zealand resident (the borrower) for the purposes of a business they carry on outside New Zealand through a fixed establishment outside New Zealand and through which the borrower lends money to another New Zealand resident.

Exception when permanent establishment

(1BA) This section does not apply to business activities that a person carries on through a permanent establishment in New Zealand.

Relationship with source rules

(1B) This section does not apply to limit the effect of—

(a) any of the source rules in section YD 4 other than those in section YD 4(2), (3), and (11)(b)(i); or

(b) the source rules in section YD 4(2), (3), and (11)(b)(i) to the extent to which the income referred to is also income referred to in any source rule other than those in section YD 4(2), (3), and (11)(b)(i).

Apportionment

(2) Subject to subsection (4), the amount of income derived from the business or under the contract, and the amount of expenditure incurred in deriving the income, must be apportioned between New Zealand and sources outside New Zealand to the extent necessary to achieve the result in subsection (3).

Necessary effect of apportionment

(3) The result of the apportionment, to the extent consistent with subsection (2), must be that the person's net income or net loss, in relation to the business or contract, is the same as a separate and independent person would have if they were carrying out only the person's activities in New Zealand and dealing at arm's length.

First formula: Apportionment of income from interest or redemption payment

(4) Subject to subsections (6) and (7), interest or a redemption payment derived as described in subsection (1)(d) is apportioned to a source in New Zealand using the formula—

$$\text{loan ratio} \times \text{amount}.$$

Definition of items in formula

(5) In the formula in subsection (4),—

(a) loan ratio is calculated by applying the formula in subsection (8) to the business described in subsection (1)(d):

(b) amount is the amount of interest or redemption payment described in subsection (1)(d).

Apportionment if loan ratio 0.05 or less

(6) If the loan ratio calculated by applying the formula in subsection (8) to a business is 0.05 or less, then none of the interest or redemption payment is treated as having a source in New Zealand.

Apportionment if loan ratio 0.95 or more

(7) If the loan ratio calculated by applying the formula in subsection (8) to a business is 0.95 or more, then all of the interest or redemption payment is treated as having a source in New Zealand.

Second formula: loan ratio

(8) The item loan ratio in subsection (4) is calculated using the formula—financial arrangements producing New Zealand income ÷ total assets.

Definition of items in formula

(9) In the formula in subsection (8),—

(a) financial arrangements producing New Zealand income, for a business, means the value of the business's assets that are financial arrangements that produce income having a source in New Zealand as at—

(i) the borrower's balance date that immediately precedes the income year; if the borrower has a balance date before the start of the income year; or

(ii) the end of the day before the date on which the interest or redemption payment is paid, if subparagraph (i) does not apply:

(b) total assets, for a business, means the value of all of the business's assets as at—

(i) the borrower's balance date that immediately precedes the income year, if the borrower has a balance date before the start of the income year; or

(ii) the end of the day before the date on which the interest or redemption payment is paid, if subparagraph (i) does not apply.

Example

At its balance date of 31 March 2018, NZ Sub UK Branch has total borrowings from the wholesale markets of NZ$2b. NZ$1.5b has been lent to NZ Bank Ltd at 4% p.a., NZ$500m lent to a UK resident at 12% p.a. and there are no other assets. On 31 October 2018, the UK resident repays its loan and NZ Sub UK Branch uses the amount to repay the wholesale market lenders. On 31 January 2019, NZ Sub UK Branch pays interest of NZ$60m. NZ Sub UK Branch calculates the loan ratio in section YD 5(8) as NZ$1.5b ÷ NZ$2b = 0.75. NZ Sub UK Branch calculates the apportionment of income from interest in section YD 5(4) as: 0.75 x NZ$60m = NZ$45m. Therefore, NZ$45m of the interest payment on 31 January 2019 has a New Zealand source, so NZ Sub UK Branch pays AIL of $900,000 which is included in its AIL return for January 2019.

Defined in this Act: amount, business, gross, financial arrangement, fixed establishment, income, income year, interest, loan, money lent, net loss, New Zealand, New Zealand resident, pay, redemption payment, source in New Zealand

ZA 3 Transitional provisions

When reference to this Act includes earlier Act

(1) A reference in an enactment or document to this Act, or to a provision of it, is to be interpreted as a reference to the Income Tax Act 2004, or the Income Tax Act 1994, or the Income Tax Act 1976, or to the corresponding provision of the earlier Act, to the extent necessary to reflect sensibly the intent of the enactment or document.

When reference to earlier Act includes this Act

(2) A reference in an enactment or document to the Income Tax Act 2004, or the Income Tax Act 1994, or the Income Tax Act 1976, or to a provision of that earlier Act, is to be interpreted as a reference to this Act, or to the corresponding provision in this Act, to the extent necessary to reflect sensibly the intent of the enactment or document.

Intention of new law

(3) The provisions of this Act, including any amendments made by this Act to the Tax Administration Act 1994, are the provisions of the Income Tax Act 2004 in rewritten form, and are intended to have the same effect as the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Act 2004. Subsection (5) overrides this subsection.

Using old law as interpretation guide

(4) Unless a limit in subsection (5) applies, in circumstances where the meaning of a taxation law that comes into force at the commencement of this Act (the new law) is unclear or gives rise to absurdity—

(a) the wording of a taxation law that is repealed by section ZA 1 and that corresponds to the new law (the old law) must be used to determine the correct meaning of the new law; and

(b) it can be assumed that a corresponding old law provision exists for each new law provision.

Limits to subsections (3) and (4)

(5) Subsections (3) and (4) do not apply in the case of—

(a) a new law listed in schedule 51 (Identified changes in legislation); or

(b) a new law that is amended after the commencement of this Act, with effect from the date on which the amendment comes into force.

Defined in this Act: taxation law

Compare: 2004 No 35 s YA 3

ZA 4 Saving of binding rulings

When, and extent to which, this section applies

(1) This section applies when, and to the extent to which,—

(a) either—

(i) an applicant has applied for a private ruling, a product ruling, or a status ruling, before the beginning of the 2008–09 income year on an arrangement that is entered into, or that the applicant seriously contemplates will be entered into before the commencement of this Act; or

(ii) a public ruling is issued before the beginning of the 2008–09 income year; and

(b) the binding ruling is about—

(i) a taxation law that is repealed by section ZA 1 (the old law); or

(ii) a taxation law in the Income Tax Act 1994 that preceded and corresponded to the old law; and

(c) a new taxation law that corresponds to the old law (the new law) comes into force at the commencement of this Act; and

(d) in the absence of this section, the commencement of this Act would mean that the binding ruling would cease to apply because of section 91G of the Tax Administration Act 1994.

Ruling about new law

(2) The binding ruling is treated as if it were made about the new law, so that the effect of the ruling at the commencement of this Act is the same as its effect before the commencement.

No confirmation rulings

(3) To the extent to which a binding ruling continued by subsection (2) exists and applies to an arrangement, or to a person and an arrangement, the Commissioner must not make a binding ruling on how—

(a) the new law applies to the arrangement or to the person and the arrangement; or

(b) this subsection applies to the arrangement or to the person and the arrangement.

Defined in this Act: apply, arrangement, binding ruling, commencement of this Act, Commissioner, taxation law

Compare: 2004 No 35 s YA 4

(b) the determination has not been cancelled before the beginning of the 2008–09 income year; and

(c) the determination is about—

(i) a taxation law that is repealed by section ZA 1 (the old law); or

(ii) a taxation law in the Income Tax Act 1994 or the Income Tax Act 1976 that preceded and corresponded to the old law; and

(d) a new taxation law that corresponds to the old law (the new law) comes into force at the commencement of this Act; and

(e) in the absence of this section, the commencement of this Act would mean that that determination would cease to apply because the taxation law to which it applied had ceased to exist.

Determination about new law

(2) The determination is treated as if it were made about the new law, so that the effect of the determination at the commencement of this Act is the same as its effect before the commencement.

No confirmation determinations

(3) To the extent to which a determination continued by subsection (2) applies, the Commissioner must not make a determination on how the new law applies.

Defined in this Act: commencement of this Act, Commissioner, taxation law

Schedule 23
Meaning of permanent establishment

s YD 4B(3)

Schedule 23: inserted, on 27 June 2018, by section 54(1) (and see section 54(2) for application) of the Taxation (Neutralising Base Erosion and Profit Shifting) Act 2018 (2018 No 16).

Permanent establishment

1 The term permanent establishment means a fixed place of business through which the business of a person or other entity (an enterprise) is wholly or partly carried on.

2 The term permanent establishment includes especially—

(a) a place of management; and

(b) a branch; and

(c) an office; and

(d) a factory; and

(e) a workshop; and

(f) a mine, an oil or gas well, a quarry or any other place of extraction of natural resources.

3 A building site, or a construction, installation or assembly project, or supervisory activities in connection with that building site or construction, installation or assembly project, constitutes a permanent establishment if it lasts more than 6 months.

4 An enterprise shall be deemed to have a permanent establishment in a country or territory (the State) and to carry on business through that permanent establishment if for more than 183 days in any 12-month period—

(a) it carries on activities in that State which consist of, or which are connected with, the exploration for or exploitation of natural resources, including standing timber, situated in that State; or

(b) it operates substantial equipment in that State.

5 Notwithstanding the provisions of clauses 1 and 2 where an enterprise of a State performs services in another State (the other State)—

(a) through an individual who is present in that other State for a period or periods exceeding in the aggregate 183 days in any 12-month period, and more than 50% of the gross revenues attributable to active business activities of the enterprise during this period or periods are derived from the services performed in that other State through that individual; or

(b) for a period or periods exceeding in the aggregate 183 days in any 12-month period, and these services are performed for the same project or for connected projects through 1 or more individuals who are present and performing such services in that other State—the activities carried on in that other State in performing these services shall be deemed to be carried on through a permanent establishment of the enterprise situated in that other State, unless these services are limited to those mentioned in clause 7 which, if performed through a fixed place of business, would not make this fixed place of business a permanent establishment under the provisions of that clause. For the purposes of this clause, services performed by an individual on behalf of one enterprise shall not be considered to be performed by another enterprise through that individual unless that other enterprise supervises, directs or controls the manner in which these services are performed by the individual.

6 For the sole purpose of determining whether the time period referred to in clauses 3, 4, and 5 has been exceeded,—

(a) where an enterprise of a State carries on activities referred to in clause 3, 4, or 5 for a period of more than 30 days and these activities are carried on during periods of time that do not last more than the period stipulated in those clauses; and

(b) connected activities are carried on in that other State during different periods of time, each exceeding 30 days, by 1 or more enterprises closely related to the first-mentioned enterprise.

These different periods of time shall be added to the period of time during which the first-mentioned enterprise has carried on the activities referred to in clause 3, 4, or 5.

7 Notwithstanding the preceding provisions of this section, the term permanent establishment shall be deemed not to include—

(a) the use of facilities solely for the purpose of storage, display, or delivery of goods or merchandise belonging to the enterprise:

(b) the maintenance of a stock of goods or merchandise belonging to the enterprise solely for the purpose of storage, display, or delivery:

(c) the maintenance of a stock of goods or merchandise belonging to the enterprise solely for the purpose of processing by another enterprise:

(d) the maintenance of a fixed place of business solely for the purpose of purchasing goods or merchandise or of collecting information, for the enterprise:

(e) the maintenance of a fixed place of business solely for the purpose of carrying on, for the enterprise, any other activity:

(f) the maintenance of a fixed place of business solely for any combination of activities mentioned in subclauses (a) to (e)—

Provided that such activity, or in the case of subclause (f), the overall activity of the fixed place of business, is of a preparatory or auxiliary character.

7.1 Clause 7 shall not apply to a fixed place of business that is used or maintained by an enterprise if the same enterprise or a closely related enterprise carries on business activities at the same place or at another place in the same State and—

(a) that place or other place constitutes a permanent establishment for the enterprise or the closely related enterprise under the provisions of this Schedule; or

(b) the overall activity resulting from the combination of the activities carried on by the 2 enterprises at the same place, or by the same enterprise or closely related enterprises at the 2 places, is not of a preparatory or auxiliary character—

Provided that the business activities carried on by the 2 enterprises at the same place, or by the same enterprise or closely related enterprises at the 2 places, constitute complementary functions that are part of a cohesive business operation.

8 Notwithstanding the provisions of clauses 1 and 2 but subject to the provisions of clause 9, where a person is acting in a State on behalf of an enterprise and, in doing so,—

(a) habitually concludes contracts, or habitually plays the principal role leading to the conclusion of contracts that are routinely concluded without material modification by the enterprise, and these contracts are—

(i) in the name of the enterprise; or

(ii) for the transfer of the ownership of, or for the granting of the right to use, property owned by that enterprise or that the enterprise has the right to use; or

(iii) for the provision of services by that enterprise; or

(b) manufactures or processes in a State for the enterprise goods or merchandise belonging to the enterprise,— that enterprise shall be deemed to have a permanent establishment in that State in respect of any activities which that person undertakes for the enterprise, unless the activities of such person are limited to those mentioned in clause 7 which, if exercised through a fixed place of business (other than a fixed place of business to which clause 7.1 would apply), would not make this fixed place of business a permanent establishment under the provisions of that subsection.

9 Clause 8 shall not apply where the person acting in a State on behalf of an enterprise of the other State carries on business in the first-mentioned State as an independent agent and acts for the enterprise in the ordinary course of that business. Where, however, a person acts exclusively or almost exclusively on behalf of 1 or more enterprises to which it is closely related, that person shall not be considered to be an independent agent within the meaning of this clause with respect to any such enterprise.

10 The fact that a company which is a resident of a State controls or is controlled by a company which is a resident of the other State, or which carries on business in that other State (whether through a permanent establishment or otherwise), shall not of itself constitute either company a permanent establishment of the other.

11 For the purposes of this clause, a person or enterprise is closely related to an enterprise if, based on all the relevant facts and circumstances, 1 has control of the other or both are under the control of the same persons or enterprises. In any case, a person or enterprise shall be considered to be closely related to an enterprise if 1 possesses directly or indirectly more than 50% of the beneficial interest in the other (or, in the case of a company, more than 50% of the aggregate vote and value of the company's shares or of the beneficial equity interest in the company) or if another person or enterprise possesses directly or indirectly more than 50% of the beneficial interest (or, in the case of a company, more than 50% of the aggregate vote and value of the company's shares or of the beneficial equity interest in the company) in the person and the enterprise or in the 2 enterprises.

(8) For the purposes of subsection (6), the Commissioner may remit some or all of a late payment penalty if the Commissioner considers that the failure is solely a consequence of extraordinary circumstances that the person could not reasonably be expected to have foreseen.

Schedule 51
Identified changes in legislation

s ZA 3(5)

Provisions in Income Tax Act 2007 or Tax Administration Act 1994 (TAA)	Change
Business-related provisions, listed in the appendix to this schedule	The tax year basis for these provisions is omitted, or changed to an income year basis.
CD 39(9)(b), (c)	A dividend payable to a shareholder by a company when the amount is applied under section CD 39(9)(a) by the shareholder against a loan from the company to the shareholder includes a dividend that is paid without any withholding of an amount of resident withholding tax or non-resident withholding tax.
FA 3(2)	An ambiguity is removed, which ensures that an amount of the dividend is treated as being derived on the sale of the shares to the extent to which it matches any trading loss of the share dealer.
FA 5(6)	The time of association is clarified as being the time at which the associated person acquires the asset.
FA 9(2) and (3)	The time of association is clarified as being the time at which the associated person acquires the asset.
FC 2 to FC 6	The transfer on death to the executor/administrator and the subsequent transfer from the executor/administrator to the estate is treated as one transfer.
GB 1	Section GB 1(3) is clarified to confirm that the amount of the dividend derived is part of the consideration for the shares.
GB 27(2)(c)	The $60,000 threshold is clarified in order to take into account all income that would be attributed under section GB 29.
GB 35(2)(d)	The ambiguity is removed in order to clarify that multiple purposes are referred to.
GB 42(2)(d)	The ambiguity is removed in order to clarify that multiple purposes are referred to.
HC 27(2)	The definition of settlor is clarified so that any transfer to a trust that increases the net assets of the trust is a settlement on the trust and any deductible payments settled on a trust are included in trustee income.

Provisions in Income Tax Act 2007 or Tax Administration Act 1994 (TAA)	Change
HC 34(2)	The date for the payment of tax on a taxable distribution from a non-complying trust is the terminal tax date of the person liable to pay that tax.
IA 4(1)	Carried forward tax losses are used first by a person, before the losses may be grouped or otherwise used.
LA 1 to LA 10	Tax credits (other than personal and family tax credits) are used for the year that corresponds to the income year in which the credits arise.
LC 9(2)	This rule relates to the housekeeper and low income tax credits (formerly termed rebates). The policy of the rule is to apportion income of an absentee between periods of the person's absence and presence in New Zealand. The apportionment set out in the bill is on a daily basis. In the interests of simplification, the bill omits from the 2004 Act corresponding rule, the formula that apportioned the income on a "weeks" basis for persons with "regular pay periods". A change in effect is anticipated, but the omission should result at most in a small difference in outcome in favour of taxpayers. The New Zealand Law Society indicated in their submission on the bill that it would be preferable to list this as an intended change.
MC 6	The reference to veteran's pension is omitted because the in-work tax credit is an incentive to return to work.
RD 36(2)	A dividend payable to a shareholder by a company when the amount is applied under section RD 36(1) by the shareholder against a loan from the company to the shareholder includes a dividend that is paid without any withholding of an amount of resident withholding tax or non-resident withholding tax.
YA 1, definition of land	The provision is simplified and structured so that the first 3 paragraphs of the rewritten definition are to apply generally for the Act. This is consistent with the objectives of plain accessible legislation and is thought highly unlikely to result in any material change in law. However, as this change in drafting could conceivably result in a change in outcome in some circumstances, the change should be identified for readers.
YA 1, definition of mortgage	The definition of mortgage was introduced at a time when mortgages were subject to tax as a subset of land tax. The drafting in the bill provides for an updated and simplified term to apply generally for the Act. This is consistent with the objectives of plain accessible and up-to-date legislation and is thought highly unlikely to result in any material change in law. However, as this change in drafting could conceivably result in a change in outcome in some circumstances, the change should be identified for readers.

YA 1, definition of natural resource	A definition of natural resource is inserted for the purposes of section BH 1, and the definitions of land and New Zealand.
YA 1, definition of pay	The provision is simplified and structured so it is to apply generally for the Act. This is consistent with the objectives of plain accessible legislation and is thought highly unlikely to result in any material change in law. However, as this change in drafting could conceivably result in a change in outcome in some circumstances, the change should be identified for readers.
